

ROSES

HT - Hybrid Tea:

X

Generally tall and stately, the hybrid tea has large blooms with long cutting stems. Usually one bloom per stem

HR - Heirloom:

Casual in form, having delightful fragrance and old-fashioned charm, this rose used in mass plantings for carefree color or a basis for the perennial garden will add interest and history to any landscape.

ER / DA - English Roses/David Austin:

Cross between modern and old-fashion roses, has old-fashioned form and rich fragrance, with the vigor and repeat bloom of today's roses. Designed to be grouped together - in a cottage garden, or near living areas where their fragrance can truly be appreciated.

FL - Floribunda:

This rose is lower growing than hybrid teas and bloom heavily in clusters from June until frost. The plentiful blooms make great bouquets.

GR - Grandiflora:

X

As tall as hybrid teas with the same form, but usually bloom in clusters.

CL - Climbers:

Long arching canes reaching 6' and more in length and will grow on arbors and trellises, trailing along a fence, or accenting a wall with splashes of color. They are vigorous and easy to grow, blooming heavily for years, given plenty of room and fertilizer.

SH - Shrub:

XX

Dense growth and bloom freely all season with very little maintenance. Usually on their own root stock.

GC - Ground Covers:

XX

Hardy, spreading roses creating a carpet of low maintenance color. Ideal for rocky areas, slopes or can be planted in baskets for trailing color on porch or deck.

HE - Hedge:

XX

Dense foliage; suitable for trimming as a hedge.

MIN - Miniature:

These bushes grow 2 to 3' tall, often literally covered with perfectly formed miniature blooms. Good for containers, rock gardens, at the base of larger plants, mixed into a perennial bed, for narrow borders or other limited spaces.

ALTITUDE: As a general rule, most rose bushes grow well up to about 6,000 ft. If there is a good snow cover during the winter months, they will grow up to 7,500 ft. A few varieties can grow at higher altitudes. (Austrian Copper, Persian Yellow, and Woods roses have been seen growing at 10,000 ft.) Provide winter protection on all roses.
